IT WAS A MUSICAL TREAT.

Grand Concert at the Y. W. C. A. Rooms by the "Prize Singers."

The "Prize Singers" gave an excellent evening's entertainment at the Young Women's Christian association rooms Tuesday night. Mrs. D. B. Thomas' Ladies' choir gave an excellent rendition of the competitive pieces at the Laurel Hill park estabed.

The whole programme was of a very high standard of musical ability, and was much appreciated by a large audience.

GATE LIFTERS WARNED.

Mr. Corbett Has Had Enough of Their Pranks.

Melvin I. Corbett, of 419 North Washington avenue, is anxious to meet the young men who removed the gate from his fence last night.

Mr. Corbett made a thorough search for them last night and endeavored to locate Mayor Connell or Chief Simpson to aid him in the matter, as his gate was removed before two weeks ago. Mr. Corbett is determined to make an example of the practical jokers, and will use every effort to identify them.

TRANSFERRING LICENSES.

COULD NOT BE THROTTLED

West Side Enthusiasm Unrestrained for Republican Principles.

CHEERS WERE LONG AND LOUD

Meeting in St. David's Hall Gave Signs of Party Success—Masterful Speeches of Marriot Brosius and A. J. Colborn.

Of all the political meetings of any kind during the present campaign, the rally under the auspices of the West Side Republican club in St. David's hall last night will rank among the most enthusiastic and completely satisfactory.

It was a grand meeting not only from a general standpoint, but because it offered an opportunity for men of all political faiths to hear that famous orator Marriot Brosius, present congressman from the Lancaster county district. For more than an hour he kept the hall ringing with shouts and tumultuous applause by one of the most masterly, concise and above all patriotic speeches delivered in this section in recent years. A generous sprinkling of Democrats considered in connection with Mr. Brosius' effort cannot but prove favorable on election day.

W. Gaylord Thomas and the stirring and eloquent A. J. Colborn furnished the introductory and closing speeches respectively. Not the least pleasant features was the band and vocal music rendered by Bauer's musicians and the Columbian quartette.

No Vacant Chairs.

When the president of the club, Dr. W. A. Paine, formally opened the meeting, every chair in the large hall was unoccupied and the last available space was occupied by a party of ladies during the first hour of the meeting. Their interest in Republicanism called forth hearty applause as they took their seats.

In the auditorium were D. W. Powell, D. M. Jones, William R. Williams, T. H. Dale, W. A. Paine, Eben J. Davies, William J. Jones, Alfred Goddard, Thomas Hopkins, William Penn Morgan, Thomas Lowry, Rev. E. R. Lewis, Benjamin Reynolds, William Frink, George Benore, Isaac Richards, Daniel Williams, Myron Evans, John H. Williams, W. W. Davis, H. F. Forber and many other well known Republicans. On and near the platform were the following Republican candidates: Joseph A. Scranton, for congress; R. W. Archibald, for judge; Frank H. Clemons, for sheriff; Thomas D. Davies, for treasurer; John H. Thomas, for clerk of the courts; John R. Jones, for district attorney; Charles Heuster, for recorder of deeds; C. E. Pryor, for prothonotary; J. S. Hopkins, for register of wills; James C. Vaughan, for senator from the Twentieth district; John R. Parr, for representative from the First district.

W. Gaylord Thomas during his address gave a lucid illustration of the benefits of the protective system and demonstrated the thrift of the nation under tariff provisions. He then argued why the prosperity would return with a Republican house and speaker to undo the Wilson bill wrong.

The magnetic speech of Congressman Brosius left but little in the minds of the audience which could not be applied in the support of free trade or other perquisite of Democratic misrule. The distinguished orator said in substance:

Address of Mr. Brosius.

"Your chairman severely handicapped me by introducing me as a congressman, but in spite of all which has been said of us there are some who think well of us. I shall throw myself upon your generous indulgence.

"In Pennsylvania there have been two prominent reasons for Republican success: First young men have found affiliations with the party and have remained true to its principles in a great measure because of the great prospects offered them in its ranks; second, its standard bearers have always been highly selected for their energy and sterling ability. We can continue in the state administration and the future glory of the party as well.

"We may learn some things from books and teachers; but the object lesson of the past eighteen months is greater in its scope and more useful than the teachings of men.

"In 1892, free from scandal and with respect for the flag at home and abroad, we commanded the attention of the civilized world. Today you see workingmen of America denied the privilege of earning their bread by the sweat of their brow; you see their wives and babies crying for sustenance; you saw all this in a land of plenty. Do you remember the industrial armies of idle men waiting on Washington last summer; do you remember the banners of Democracy, 'Cleveland and Prosperity'; do you remember the banners of the industrial armies, 'Give us Work'?

Spectacle at Washington.

"What a spectacle! The house disgraced with the senate, the senate disgraced with the house, and the president disgraced with both. With forty-three senators in the senate and only thirteen of them favoring that peculiar measure, the senate made it operative. The collar and cuff industry of New York, the pottery industry of New Jersey, the protection before we support the bill," said Senator Murphy and Senator Jones, and many other senators said the same thing.

Mr. Brosius then quoted the famous prophecy of James G. Blaine to the effect that any reduction of change from protective principles would bring want to the door of the laboring man, silence to the mills, and an abiding and lasting crippling of American industries.

"How has that prophecy been fulfilled," continued Mr. Brosius. "If the tears of women and children could speak it would be a sufficient answer. You have a conspicuous object lesson here in your midst. Your own teeming valley, its magnificent population, miles of railroad would all be in the same condition as the state of Georgia if it had not been nurtured in the protective principles of the Republican party. It is an object lesson sufficient without detailed embellishments. We declared our choice and confidence in protection before breakfast early in the year's morning, February, when we rolled up a magnificent majority of 180,000. What a racket there will be Nov. 6." He concluded his speech by witty, terse and impressive allusions to the Hawaiian pension and other subtle acts of Democratic misgovernment as facts which of themselves plead for Republican administration.

In a manner and eloquence, and with a reasoning which could not be separated from successful result, Attorney A. J. Colborn presented the names and qualifications of the Republican county candidates. Each mention of the individuals on the ticket was presented with the peculiar weight and force which accompany Mr. Colborn's speeches. He was encouraged in his utterances by the sympathy and spontaneity of the audience who showed their feeling by frequent and long outbursts of applause. Mr. Colborn's speech furnished a happy ending to what was designated as happy a meeting as its promoters had hoped for.

AN EXCELLENT CONCERT.

It Will Be Given at Y. M. C. A. Hall on Nov. 1.

The Bailey-Rathbone concert at the Young Men's Christian association hall Thursday evening, Nov. 1, will be one of the select high class musical affairs of the season.

In addition to its being a very enjoyable able entertainment it will be for the benefit of the Home for the Friendless, a very deserving charity.

In view of the fact that no direct solicitation for the sale of tickets will be made, our musical people should come forward with liberal patronage.

PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS.

Goods Almost Given Away Until December 1.

During the month of December we will have very little to think of the regular lines of goods, as we will be pretty well occupied with Christmas goods. Therefore, in order to reduce our stock before Jan. 1, 1895, we will commence a cut-price sale today and continue it until the first of December.

We have marked down to about half price the following goods:

Clothes baskets, wash tubs, cedar pails, painted pails, door mats, whisk brooms, bottled pickles, bottled mustard, jar catsup, oil sardines, marrowfat in medium beans, green peas, canned corn, farina, coffee and tea. This is a bona-fide clearing sale. The above goods have been placed on our counter with the price marked on it. Come and see for yourself.

WANTED BETTER MORALS.

That Is Why Jeffreys Says He Made the Arrest—Will Have a Chance to Tell His Story to a Jury in Court.

Special Officer Jeffreys, of Dunmore, who was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of extortion, appeared yesterday before Alderman Fitzsimmons yesterday.

Alexander Murphy, of 718 Gibson street, and Robert Kennedy gave evidence that Jeffreys, who is a watchman at Johnson's breaker, was in the habit of extorting money from young people on Sunday night. Jeffreys pounced upon a couple and displayed a revolver, and a companion of his showed a revolver, being the prelude to an arrest upon a charge of street walking and indecent behavior. The sum of $5 was extorted from the young man, who, however, laid a trap for Jeffreys Tuesday night, when he was captured, and Lieutenant Davies telephoned for, who placed Jeffreys under arrest yesterday morning and did not deny receiving the money. The alderman held him to appear at the court of quarter sessions, but in the meantime he was being entered.

Speaking to a Tribune reporter, Jeffreys said he knew nothing of the $5 honest money, and spoke volubly of the honest manner in which he was extorting out his duties, and that he was merely endeavoring to purify the morality of the neighborhood, and his arrest was a complete mystery.

A HOME WEDDING.

Marriage of Miss Sallie Wambold to Eric Lee Merriman.

Miss Sallie Wambold, daughter of Mrs. C. A. Wambold, was married last night to Eric Lee Merriman, of Scranton, at the home of the bride, 314 Green Ridge street, and was witnessed by numerous friends and relatives.

Palms, ferns, potted chrysanthemums and laurel were used in the artistic decorations of the lower floor of the house, which presented a transfiguration into a bower of floral beauty.

Excepting the maid of honor and best man the wedding did not include formal details. Miss Sarah Hoadley, of Tunkhannock, was the maid of honor, and Richard A. Wambold, brother of the bride, attended the groom. A delightful supper was served during the evening and at midnight Mr. and Mrs. Merriman left on the Lackawanna road for a trip to New York.

Their return to Scranton they will reside during the winter at 314 Green Ridge street.

Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lou Camp, Tunkhannock; Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Wilkes-Barre; Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Peckens and Miss Linda Peckens, Honesdale; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Atherton, Kingston; Miss Maria Raub, Luzerne; Miss May Beck, Moscow; Louis Merriman, Norfolk, Va.

MISS INNOCENCE ABROAD.

Fanny Rice and Company Gave an Entertaining Performance.

Lively Fanny Rice and company presented "Miss Innocence Abroad" at the Academy of Music last evening before a well pleased audience.

It is an English comedy in which "an officer of the guards," of course, was a central figure. That officer, by the way, was impersonated by a very clever actor, Charles Cook, by name.

Miss Rice does not possess much of a voice, but she puts a force and expression into the lines she sings that make them immensely popular with her audience. Her efforts last night were warmly encored.

She has surrounded herself with a good company, among the members of which are George Edison, Frank Jones, Rose Blaudet and Emily Wakeman. They assisted Miss Rice in extracting a fine evening's entertainment from "Miss Innocence Abroad."

EX-PRISONERS OF WAR.

They Will Hold Their Annual Meeting Here Today and Afterward Banquet.

The annual meeting of the United Ex-Prisoners of the War association will be held at the rooms of Lieutenant Ezra S. Griffin Post, No. 139, Grand Army of the Republic, today at 2 o'clock p. m., for the election of officers, payment of dues and the transaction of such business as may come before it.

At 6 p. m., a banquet will be held at Hanley's dining rooms, at which an interesting programme of speeches and songs will be rendered.

TOOK TO THE MOUNTAINS.

Silox Weed, of Dickson City, Did Not Wait to Answer His Wife.

Mrs. Louisa Weed, of Dickson City, appeared before Alderman Williams, of Providence, yesterday and asked for a warrant for the arrest of her husband, Silox Weed, who, she said, had eloped with her on Tuesday and persistently refused to contribute to her support. She says she has to support the family by taking in washing.

A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of Constable Cole. Weed learned of his wife's action and took to the mountains.

ANOTHER CHURCH FORMED.

The Presbyterians of Peckville Ask for a Charter.

The First Presbyterian church of Peckville, through Attorney T. F. Wells, applied to the court yesterday for a charter.

Those names are attached to the articles of incorporation: A. F. Brundage, John K. Doyle, A. F. Kizer, Fred R. Benjamin, S. W. Arnold, William Maple Hill, E. D. Ensign, A. W. Brundage, H. E. Barnes and Fred G. Hurd. All are residents of Peckville.

SOLD VERY CHEAP.

Stock in F. G. Seaman's General Store Brought Only $210.

Deputy Sheriff Griswold yesterday sold the stock in the general store of F. G. Seaman at Benton to satisfy a judgment held by his brother, C. S. Seaman.

The latter purchased the stock for $210.

VERY DESPERATE TRAMPS

Broke Open Pritchburg Lockup and Released Two Companions.

WERE ARRESTED FOR THEFT

They Had a Harness Which Was Supposed to Have Come Unlawfully Into Their Possession—Arrested by Constable Richard Barron.

The most recent accomplishment of the gang of tramps and marauders infesting the valley above Providence was performed yesterday in daylight when four of them broke into the Pritchburg lockup and released two of their companions, who had been prisoners only two hours. Residents of that vicinity have viewed with recent complacency the recent petty thefts, burglaries and foragings, but yesterday's audacious act created not a little surprise and comment.

About 1 o'clock two of a gang of six tramps were arrested and placed in the lockup on suspicion of having stolen a harness from Alderman Morgan in the North End on Monday. When Constable Barron at 3 o'clock returned from an investigation trip to Providence he found the lockup vacant and the structure very much in need of repair.

The roof was torn loose for a space of several square feet and the locks of the cells battered from the iron clasps. No trace has been found of the tramps, although it is believed they were trying to sell in the possession of Justice of the Peace Logan awaiting an owner.

FIGHTING THE TRACK.

Hearing in the Injunction Case Against Scranton Traction Company.

The injunction proceedings against the Scranton Traction company and the Valley Passenger Railway company in which the property owners on both sides of Franklin avenue, between Lackawanna avenue and Spruce street, are the complainants, occupied the attention of Judge Gunster in the main court room yesterday.

L. H. Burns and W. W. Watson represented the property owners and ex-Judge W. H. Jessup and Horace E. Hand represented the defendants. The action was taken to enjoin the street car company from constructing an additional track on Franklin avenue. This would injure the value of property it is alleged.

Mr. Burns, after opening the case, offered the charter of the Scranton Traction company and the charter of the Valley Passenger Railway company as evidence. He held that the charters do not allow the Traction company to lay this additional track.

J. R. Hoctor, manager of the Traction company, said that the track was being laid under the charter rights of the People's Street Railway company.

The testimony of several property owners was heard and then an adjournment was taken until Saturday morning.
